WEATHER PROBABILITIES .- For this rection fair, but with increasing cloudiness; warmer saturday morning; fresh and brilish wasterly winds.

A CONFERENCE.-A conference was held at the Columbus street Court House this morning between Mesers. Grunwell, Duucan and Corbett, the County Board of Supervisors, and Mr. John H. Strider, chairman of the committee on public property of the City Council, and Mr. M. B. Harlow, president of the Hydraulion Fire Company, concerning a proposition from the city to build a house for the Hydraulion company on the southern end of the old court house property.

Mr. Harlow give a succinct account of what the city desired to do. The city was growing, especially toward the northwest, and the time had arrived when a steam fire engine should be lo cated in the neighborhood of the Columbus street court house; that the city desired to erect a house for such pur pose on the lot alluded to, to be 40 feet front and to run back the entire distance of the lot, and to remove the Hydraulion from its present quarters on Royal street to the new house. Mr. Harlow stated that in the final partition of the property between the city and county the former would, of course, make just allowance for the piece of ground it was pro-posed to use. He believed the city had the right to the use of the lot in question and that the county had an equal right to use the north end, but the city desired that whatever was but the city desired that whatever was done it should be with the perfect agreement of both parties interested.

Major Lacey, of the county, who was present, said that the court-house property had been placed in trust to the Governor of Virginia by the United States government to be used for court house purposes, and that the building itself could not be diverted from such use. The use of the lot, however, seemed to be another matter, and he did not see how the trust could be in validated should an engine house be erected on the southern end of the lot erected on the southern end of the los by a joint owner. Major Lacey also suggested that action of Congress would be necessary before any title could be given to purchasers of the court house property, it being at present merely held in trust. The supervisors saw no good reason why the city should not be allowed to build the engine house, provided the proper paper was drawn up and signed by both city and county officials, and said they merely wanted time in which to look further into the matter. They also favored the sale of the property and the rebuilding of a court house in the central portion of the county.

Mr. Strider explained fully what the city desired to do, and said he thought it was time the city was getting something from the property. Alexandria had for years paid for paving, curbing, etc., on that square, and had received nothing therefor. He also saw no reason why the city should be supplicated in this metter, when it was a half ants in this matter, when it was a balf owner of the property.

It was finally agreed by the supervisors to hold another meeting on Monday week to further consider the mat-

An agreement, it will be remembered, was entered into by the supervisors and the City Council over a year ago, by the terms of which the property was to have been sold at public auction last July, but for some reason it was never acted on by Council.

GRACE CHURCH RECTORY.-Last night having been appointed as the time for the formal handing over of the key of the new rectory to the vestry of Gracy Church, the members and their friends assembled in the church, and, friends assembled in the church, and, after prayer and the singing of a hymn, the rector, Rev. C. E. Ball, followed by the choir and congregation, marched in procession to the house. The front door having been reached Rev. Mr. Ball knocked on the door, demanding entrance in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. Mr. Chas. Kiog, the senior warden, thereupon opened the door, and as the procession entered the door, and as the procession entered the pax domo was said, and immediately the first notes of the processional hymn. "Rejoice, ye pure in heart!" burst on the ear. The service of benediction was then held, according to an interesting programme that had been arranged, consisting of the reading of psalms, singing of hymns, prayers, &c. After this all present inspected the house and were warmly greeted by the rector. The rectory is a handsome brick structure containing ten rooms with all the modern improvemen's. The wood work is finished in natural woods and handsome mantels and woods and handsome manters and chandeliers are found in each room.

Mr. M. F. Bailey was the builder, and he may well feel proud of his work, for no more beautiful house could possibly be built for the money expended on this. Great credit is also due to Mr. this. Great credit is also due to arr.
Frank King, who has had charge of the work from its earliest incipiency down to its completion and has devoted much thought and care upon it. We trust that it may ever be a happy home to the people of Grace Church.

Mrs. Andrews, it will be remembered, was the charming Miss Marietta Minnigerode, of Virginia, whose graceful style in the artistic line has become known to admirers and friends in this city. Mrs. Andrews is a typical daughter of the South, with fair complexion and hair like spun gold, which she wears brushed back plainly. Her eyes are blue and lustrous, and her whole personality is full of the charm of grace and culture. She is a niece of the late Rev. C. SOCIAL EVENING AT THE PARSON-AGE.—The first of a series of "social evenings at the parsonage" was held at the Methodist Protestant parsonage, on Columbus street, last night. For several hours the house was crowded and every one seemed bent upon enjoying the occasion to the utmost. Through the courtesy of Mr. Wm. T. Emerson the parlors were beautifully decorated with palms and other potted plants. Mr. Clift, with his versatile talents to enterwith recitation and song added materially to the enjoyment of the occasion. Mr. John Trimyer read a selection which touched the hearts of his auditors with its tender pather, Others assisted in making the occasion one of the brightest in the history of the manse.
